

Images, Video, or Audio Recordings on the Web

Roxboro Christian Academy has a school website. From time to time we take photographs, or digital images, to use in newsletters and other school publications or projects. We feature school activities on this site, which may include images of students and samples of their work. We also make video and audio recordings of school events. These recordings, newsletters, and sample student work may be posted on our website.

Our goal is to respect your child’s privacy, but still afford him/her an avenue to publish and celebrate notable work and accomplishments. We will identify children by their full name. This includes articles published by the local media (recognition, awards, competition results, etc.) Images and rosters of school groups or teams may include full names and/or uniform numbers. Student work that is displayed will be identified by the student’s full name and by class or by grade level.
